

Southern Living®

GOOD TO GREAT!

FRESH MAKEOVERS WITH CLASSIC CHARM

FLIP THE ISSUE!
32-PAGE SPRING FASHION GUIDE

FESTIVE SPRING
RECIPES

GROW AN EASY EDIBLE GARDEN

10 PERFECT
WEEKEND
GETAWAYS

MARCH 2014

$4.99US $6.50CAN

03

TOP PICKS

SHOW OFF PLANTS IN CLASSIC POTS

JOSEPH SAND
POTTERY

RANDLEMAN, NC
Wood-fired pots glazed with local
red clay, glass,
and quartz.
Ash Glazed
Planter, $19;
jsspottery.com

HEWELL'S
POTTERY

GILLSVILLE, GA
Recrafted for Colonial Williamsburg based on found fragments.
Tall CW Pot, from $10; [hewells
pottery.com](http://hewells pottery.com)

LOUISVILLE
STONEWARE

LOUISVILLE, KY
Nice paired with herbs or houseplants. 7-inch
Herb Crock, $50; [louisville
stoneware.com](http://louisville stoneware.com)

CONTAINER
RECIPE

1. 'Solenia Salmon Coral' begonia
2. Asparagus fern
3. 'Kent Beauty' ornamental oregano
4. Angel vine

Brighten Up a Table

Create a long-lasting centerpiece that starts with a handcrafted container

IF NAMES SUCH AS HEWELL'S AND LOUISVILLE

Stoneware sound familiar, that's because for years these artisans have been turning the clay that Southern gardeners have cursed into containers that are works of art. Newcomers such as Joseph Sand Pottery have moved to our region to take advantage of this natural resource. So what's the secret to planting a container that's destined to become an heirloom? Keep the composition simple. To complement the green-and-white glaze of the vintage Ozark tourist pottery shown above, we combined 'Solenia Salmon Coral' begonia with 'Kent Beauty' ornamental oregano, asparagus fern, and angel vine. Water only when the soil feels dry. While begonias in the Solenia series are more forgiving than their tuberous kin, they will rot if kept wet. Fertilize with Dynamite Flowers & Vegetables (13-13-13) when planting, and place where the display is protected from afternoon sun. ☀